in this dark quirky fourteenth dr siri paiboun mystery set in communist laos in the early 80s a death threat sends dr siri down memory lane from paris in the 30s to war torn vietnam in the 70s to figure out who s trying to kill him now vientiane 1980 for a man of his age and in his corner of the world dr siri the 76 year old former national coroner of laos is doing remarkably well especially considering the fact that he is possessed by a thousand year old hmong shaman that is until he finds a mysterious note tied to his dog s tail upon finding someone to translate the note dr siri learns it is a death threat addressed not only to him but to everyone he holds dear whoever wrote the note claims the job will be executed in two weeks thus at the urging of his wife and his motley crew of faithful friends dr siri must figure out who wants him dead prompting him to recount three incidents over the years an early meeting with his lifelong pal civilai in paris in the early 30s a particularly disruptive visit to an art museum in saigon in 1956 and a prisoner of war negotiation in hanoi at the height of the vietnam war in the 70s there will be grave consequences in the present if dr siri can t decipher the clues from his past

The Second Biggest Nothing 2019-08-20

dr siri paiboun may be in his seventy third year but he s still as sturdy as a jungle boar and as crafty as one reluctant coroner to the lao people s democratic republic he s been despatched to the country s mountainous north where the sudden appearance of a mummified arm protruding from a concrete path laid in front of the president s new mansion has caused an understandable degree of embarrassment dr siri s disinterment and autopsy of the body attached to the arm provide some grisly surprises but it is his gifts as a shaman that put the septuagenarian doctor on the trail of the killer as siri and his team close in they must tackle a marriage proposal brave the perils of life on the open road and come face to face with a horrific sacrificial ritual is it any wonder dr siri takes up disco dancing

Disco for the Departed 2008-10-02 after 15 cunning mischievous heartbreaking hilarious eye opening and atmospheric installments colin cotterill s award winning dr siri paiboun series comes to a close make sure you don t miss this last chapter a deliciously clever puzzle that illuminates the history of world war ii in southeast asia laos 1981 when an unofficial mailman drops off a strange bilingual diary dr siri is intrigued half is in lao but the other half is in japanese which no one siri knows can read it appears to have been written during the second world war most mysterious of all it comes with a note stapled to it dr siri we need your help most urgently but who is we and why have they left no return address to the chagrin of his wife and friends who have to hear him read the diary out loud siri embarks on an investigation by examining the text though the journal was apparently written by a kamikaze pilot it is surprisingly dull twenty pages in no one has died and the pilot never mentions any combat at all despite these shortcomings siri begins to obsess over the diary s abrupt ending and the riddle of why it found its way into his hands did the kamikaze pilot ever manage to get off the ground to find out he and madame daeng will have to hitch a ride south and uncover some of the darkest secrets of the second world war

The Delightful Life of a Suicide Pilot 2020-06-02

grandad there s a head on the beach is the second jimm juree mystery from award winning author colin cotterill in rural thailand former crime reporter jimm juree must grapple with her quirky family a mysterious mother and daughter on the lam and the small matter of a head on the beach when jimm juree s mother sold the family house and invested in a rundown holiday camp at the southern end of thailand on the gulf of siam the family had little choice but to follow jimm juree who was well on her way to achieving her goal of becoming the primary crime reporter for the major daily newspaper in Chiang Mai is less than thrilled to have lost her job as a reporter and to be stuck in the middle of nowhere where little of interest happens so it is with mixed feelings that she greets the news that a head has washed up on the beach it's tragic of course but this could be the sort of sensational murder that would get her a byline in a major daily and keep her toehold on her journalism career now all she has to do is find out who was murdered and why

although best known as an author of crime novels like the dr siri and jimm juree series colin cotterill is also an accomplished artist and illustrator he has designed many book covers for other authors and this new book of cartoons allows you to perhaps see a little bit more into how his mind works from colin the premise to this book is simple what if since the beginning of time and a few weeks before every living creature had access to a cell phone what if every human real and fictional famous infamous and unknown every animal fish insect deity and us president was in a position to take an instant snap of their defining moments what if the very act of taking those photos was in itself responsible for their demise this book is not all about death although death is the pervading theme i m a mystery writer so it s unavoidable i ve been making money out of murder for a while dying isn t funny we ll yes sometimes it is but at least it should be thought provoking the way to best enjoy this collection is to not only suspend your disbelief but to embrace it in these pages insanity prevails and i ask you to bask in its ridiculousness my publisher said it took him several days to understand all the pictures i think he meant it as a complaint whereas i saw it as success we live in an instant world where everything is on tap and you don t have to think anymore take your time with this collection look up the names and the dates it could be a research project for your kids they probably won t learn anything useful but they ll notice things eventually they ll get it these are cartoons cartoons aren t meant to change your life it s all about having a chuckle here and there a nod or two an aha of realization an ahh of sympathy an unh and empathy but most of all i want you to pay for the download and not get it free from some cheapskate that would make me happy and get the dogs fed
