Service? Learning to Advance Social Justice in a Time of Radical Inequality 2015-12-01 when considering inequality one goal for educators is to enhance critical engagement to allow learners an opportunity to participate in an inquiry process that advances democracy service learning pedagogy offers an opportunity to advance engaged learning opportunities within higher education this is particularly important given the power dynamics that are endemic within conversations about education including the conversations around the common core charter schools and the privatization of education critical inquiry is central to the ethos of service learning pedagogy a pedagogy that is built upon community partner participation and active reflection within higher education service learning offers an important opportunity to enhance practice within the community allowing students to engage stakeholders and youth which is particularly important given the dramatic inequalities that are endemic in today s society

Self-Reflection for the Opaque Mind 2016-12-01 this volume attempts to solve a grave problem about critical self reflection the worry is that we critical thinkers are all in epistemic bad faith in light of what psychology tells us after all the research shows not merely that we are bad at detecting ego threatening thoughts à la freud it also indicates that we are ignorant of even our ordinary thoughts e g reasons for our moral judgments of others haidt 2001 and even mundane reasons for buying one pair of stockings over another nisbett wilson 1977 however reflection on one s thoughts requires knowing what those thoughts are in the first place so if ignorance is the norm why attempt self reflection the activity would just display naivety about psychology yet while respecting all the data this book argues that remarkably we are sometimes infallible in our self discerning judgments even so infallibility does not imply indubitability and there is no cartesian ambition to provide a foundation for empirical knowledge the point is rather to explain how self reflection as a rational activity is possible

Participatory Evaluation Up Close 2012-07-01 empiricism provides the backbone of knowledge creation within social science disciplines e g psychology sociology and applied domains of study e g education administration alike yet relative to such domains of inquiry comparatively little empirical research on evaluation has occurred and the research knowledge base been infrequently synthesized and integrated to influence theory and practice the proposed book aims to fill this void with regard to participatory evaluation a set of collaborative approaches to evaluation that is receiving considerable attention of late including a growing body of empirical studies the authors begin in part 1 with the delineation of a widely known and familiar conceptual framework for participatory evaluation they then use the framework in part 2 as a guide to conducting an extensive review of the extant empirical knowledge base in participatory evaluation culminating in a thematic analysis of what we know about the approach in part 3 the authors focus on methodological considerations of doing research on participatory evaluation through a critique of existing studies and an explication of design choices drawn from their own research program the book concludes in part 4 with implications for moving the field forward in terms of important research questions methodological direction and evaluation practice this book will be of central interest to evaluation theorists and to those who choose to conduct research on evaluation appeal will be conceptual and methodological it will provide excellent supplementary reading for graduate students many of whom seek to develop empirical studies on evaluation as part of their graduate programs rife with examples of participatory evaluation in practice and practical implications the book will also benefit evaluation practitioners with an interest in evaluation capacity building and participatory and collaborative approaches to practice
