this book compares two countries with striking parallels in economic and political outcomes yet with some distinct features in terms of institutional structures relative size and culture therefore this book forms a fruitful platform for the study of the similarities and differences in the economic and societal development of japan and finland despite their geographic distance from one another and the aforementioned differences both countries experienced rather similar economic and societal development patterns after the second world war the study of these societies both individually and through commonalities will provide a unique perspective on the emergence of modern economies and institutions the book provides comprehensive coverage on issues such as welfare state formation and society security and military spending education system industrial development international trade governmental economic policies energy solutions and bubbles and their collapse thus issues typical for these countries as well as most modern states studied from a longitudinal perspective the book aims to answer a fundamental question in social science why do there seem to be common trends and developmental paths among countries differing in size culture and economic structure this book will provide insights for those seeking to decipher how the developments in their own countries came about and where they may be headed to the theory of semigroups is a relatively young branch of mathematics with most of the major results having appeared after the second world war this book describes the evolution of algebraic semigroup theory from its earliest origins to the establishment of a full fledged theory semigroup theory might be termed cold war mathematics because of the time during which it developed there were thriving schools on both sides of the iron curtain although the two sides were not always able to communicate with each other or even gain access to the other s publications a major theme of this book is the comparison of the approaches to the subject of mathematicians in east and west and the study of the extent to which contact between the two sides was possible the idea of a state religion is seldom connected to religious freedom and liberal modern and democratic states however such a situation existed in norway until 2012 when the lutheran church was the state church of norway a large majority of the population belonged to the church even though the percentage in 2013

had fallen to well over seventy five the relationship between the church and minority religious movements demanded adaptation and compromises from the minority churches the salvation army s enculturation and accommodation during its 128 year history in norway illustrates such a situation the book examines how the salvation army accommodated itself both doctrinally as well as practically to the situation of a dominant state church the study reveals such a close affiliation of salvationists to the norwegian church as a state institution that it raises the question of whether a concept of civil religion was implicitly present in salvationists view of the state church and their own adherence to the church this situation also raises the question of what constitutes a real church the book indicates the tension between lutheran and salvationist ecclesiology as well as the influence from the lutheran church the authors give a detailed description of the torsors that correspond to multiloop algebras these algebras are twisted forms of simple lie algebras extended over laurent polynomial rings they play a crucial role in the construction of extended affine lie algebras which are higher nullity analogues of the affine kac moody lie algebras the torsor approach that the authors take draws heavily from the theory of reductive group schemes developed by m demazure and a grothendieck it also allows the authors to find a bridge between multiloop algebras and the work of f bruhat and j tits on reductive groups over complete local fields results of the generalised collectively compact operator theory introduced by chandler wilde and zhang 2002 they build up to results obtained by applying this generalised collectively compact operator theory to the set of limit operators of an operator A its operator spectrum in the second half of this memoir the authors study bounded linear operators on the generalised sequence space $\ell_p(\mathbb{Z}^n, U)$ where $p \in [1, \infty)$ and U is some complex banach space they make what seems to be a more complete study than hitherto of the connections between fredholmness invertibility at infinity and invertibility or injectivity of the set of limit operators with some emphasis on the case when the operator A is a locally compact perturbation of the identity especially they obtain stronger results than previously known for the subtle limiting cases of $p = 1$ and ∞ let Γ be a borel class or a wadge class of borel sets and $2 \leq d \leq \omega$ let Ω be a cardinal a borel subset B of \mathbb{R}^d is potentially in Γ if there is a finer polish topology on \mathbb{R}^d such that B is in Γ when \mathbb{R}^d is equipped with the new product topology the author provides a way to recognize the sets potentially in Γ and applies this to the classes of graphs oriented or not quasi orders and partial orders the authors study higher form proca equations on einstein manifolds with boundary data along conformal infinity they solve these laplace type boundary problems formally and to all orders by constructing an operator which projects arbitrary forms to solutions they also develop a product formula for solving these asymptotic problems in general the central tools of their approach are i the conformal geometry of differential forms and the associated exterior tractor calculus and ii a generalised notion of scale which encodes the connection between the underlying geometry and its boundary the latter also controls the breaking of conformal invariance in a very strict way by coupling conformally invariant equations to the scale tractor associated with the generalised scale rethinking disaster recovery focuses attention on the social inequalities that existed on the gulf coast before hurricane katrina and how they have been magnified or altered since the storm with a focus on social axes of power such as gender sexuality race and class this book tells new and personalized stories of recovery that help to deepen our understanding of the disaster specifically the volume examines ways in which gender and sexuality issues have been largely ignored in the emerging post katrina literature the voices of young racial and ethnic minorities growing up in post katrina new orleans also rise to the surface as they discuss their outlook on future employment environmental inequities and the slow pace of recovery for many parts of the city are revealed through narrative accounts from volunteers helping to rebuild scholars who were themselves impacted tell personal stories of trauma displacement and recovery as they connect their biographies to a larger social context these insights into the day to day lives of survivors over the past ten years help illuminate the complex disaster recovery process and provide key lessons for all too likely future disasters how do experiences of recovery vary along several axes of difference why are some able to recover quickly while others struggle what is it like to live in a city recovering from catastrophe and what are the prospects for the future through on the ground observation and keen sociological analysis rethinking disaster recovery answers some of these questions and suggests interesting new avenues for research
