jerusalem one of the most contested sites in the world reconstructing jerusalem takes readers back to a pivotal moment in its history when it lay ruined and abandoned and the glory of its ancient kings david and solomon had faded why did this city not share the same fate as so many other conquered cities destroyed and forever abandoned never to be rebuilt why did jerusalem disgraced and humiliated not suffer the fate of babylon nineveh or persepolis reconstructing jerusalem explores the interrelationship of the physical and intellectual processes leading to jerusalem s restoration after its destruction in 587 b c e stressing its symbolic importance and the power of the prophetic perspective in the preservation of the judean nation and the critical transition from yahwism to judaism through texts and artifacts including a unique comprehensive investigation of the archaeological evidence a startling story emerges the visions of a small group of prophets not only inspired the rebuilding of a desolate city but also of a dispersed people archaeological historical and literary analysis converge to reveal the powerful elements of the story a story of dispersion and destruction but also of re creation and revitalization a story about how compelling visions can change the fate of a people and the course of human history a story of a community reborn to a barren city

Planning and the Rural Environment

planning and the rural environment examines the environmental issues affecting countryside planning emphasis is placed on the look and feel of the open countryside the function and appearance of the rural environment rather than the problems of its people and the settlements in which they live also discussed is the conflict of interest generated between some of the major planning systems concerned with the development of rural activities and the protection of rural resources comprised of 13 chapters this volume begins with an assessment of conflicting views of how a countryside of the future should develop and the degree of control and direction that should take place the following chapters consider how the emerging range of environmental problems and opportunities in rural planning can best be illustrated in particular the dominance of agriculture as a rural activity is analyzed together with forest and woodland management leisure activity in the countryside and conservation of resources and wildlife the next section is devoted to uplands and the urban fringe paying particular attention to some of the ways in which rural interests interact in two very different areas finally the development of rural planning is reviewed and issues that are expected to shape the countryside of the future are considered this book should be of interest to postgraduate students of rural planning and specialists in various fields of countryside planning
