this volume the new social studies people projects and perspectives is not an attempt to be the comprehensive book on the era given the sheer number of projects that task would be impossible however the current lack of knowledge about the politics people and projects of the nss is unfortunate as it often appears that new scholars are reinventing the wheel due to their lack of knowledge about the history of the social studies field the goal of this book then is to sample the projects and individuals involved with the new social studies nss in an attempt to provide an understanding of what came before and to suggest guidance to those concerned with social studies reform in the future especially in light of the standardization of curriculum and assessment currently underway in many states the authors who contributed to this project were recruited with several goals in mind including a broad range of ages interests and experiences with the nss from participants during the nss era through new young scholars who had never heard much about the nss as many of the authors remind us in their chapters much has been written of the failure of the nss however in every chapter of this book the authors also point out the remnants of the projects that remain over the past fifteen years northeast asia has witnessed growing intraregional exchanges and interactions especially in the realms of culture and economy still the region cannot escape from the burden of history this book examines the formation of historical memory in four northeast asian societies china japan south korea and taiwan and the united states focusing on the period from the beginning of the sino japanese war in 1931 until the formal conclusion of the pacific war with the san francisco peace treaty of 1951 the contributors analyse the recent efforts of korean japanese and chinese scholars to write a common history of northeast asia and question the underlying motivations for their efforts and subsequent achievements in doing so they contend that the greatest obstacle to reconciliation in northeast asia lies in the existence of divided and often conflicting historical memories the book argues that a more fruitful approach lies in understanding how historical memory has evolved in each country and been incorporated into respective master narratives through uncovering the existence of different master narratives it is hoped citizens will develop a more self critical self reflective approach to their own history and that such an introspective effort has the potential to lay the foundation for greater self and mutual understanding and eventual historical reconciliation in the region this book will be essential reading for students and scholars of asian history asian education and international relations in east asia
