The Monarchy of Fear 2011

from one of the world s most celebrated moral philosophers comes a thorough examination of the current political crisis and recommendations for how to mend a divided country for decades martha c nussbaum has been an acclaimed scholar and humanist earning dozens of honours for her books and essays in the monarchy of fear she turns her attention to the current political crisis that has polarized america since the 2016 election although today s atmosphere is marked by partisanship divisive rhetoric and the inability of two halves of the country to communicate with one another nussbaum focuses on what so many pollsters and pundits have overlooked she sees a simple truth at the heart of the problem the political is always emotional globalization has produced feelings of powerlessness in millions of people in the west that sense of powerlessness bubbles into resentment and blame blame of immigrants blame of muslims blame of other races blame of cultural elites while this politics of blame is exemplified by the election of donald trump and the vote for brexit nussbaum argues it can be found on all sides of the political spectrum left or right drawing on a mix of historical and contemporary examples from classical athens to the musical hamilton the monarchy of fear untangles this web of feelings and provides a roadmap of where to go next

Freedom From Fear And Panic 1894

martin luther king's 1965 address from montgomery alabama the center of much racial conflict at the time and the location of the well publicized bus boycott a decade earlier is often considered by historians to be the culmination of the civil rights era in american history in his momentous speech king declared that segregation was "on its deathbed" and that the movement had already achieved significant milestones although the civil rights movement had won many battles in the struggle for racial equality by the mid 1960s including legislation to guarantee black voting rights and to desegregate public accommodations the fight to implement the new laws was just starting in reality king's speech in montgomery represented a new beginning rather than a conclusion to the movement a fact that king acknowledged in the address after the dream black and white southerners since 1965 begins where many histories of the civil rights movement end with king's triumphant march from the iconic battleground of selma to montgomery timothy j minchin and john salmond focus on events in the south following the passage of the 1964 civil rights act and the 1965 voting rights act after the dream examines the social economic and political implications of these laws in the decades following their passage discussing the empowerment of black southerners white resistance accommodation and acceptance and the nation's political will the book also provides a fascinating history of the often overlooked period of race relations during the presidential administrations of ford carter reagan and both george h w and george w bush ending with the election of president barack obama this study will influence contemporary historiography on the civil rights movement why are contemporary secular theorists so frequently drawn to saints martyrs and questions of religion why has joan of arc fascinated some of the most important thinkers of the twentieth century in a book that faces crucial issues in both critical and feminist inquiry françoise meltzer uses the story of joan as a guide for reading the postmodern nostalgia for a body that is intact and transparent she argues that critics who place excessive emphasis on opposition and difference remain blind to their nostalgia for the pre cartesian idea that the body and mind are the same engaging a number of theorists and alternating between joan s historical and cultural context meltzer also explores the ways in which postmodern thinkers question subjectivity she argues that the way masculine subjects imagine joan betrays their fear of death and necessitates the role of women as cultural others enigmatic mysterious dark and impossible as such joan serves as a useful model of the limits and risks of subjectivity for meltzer she is both the first modern and the last medieval figure from the ecclesial jury that burned her to the theorists of today who deny their attraction to the supernatural the philosophical assumptions that inform joan s story as meltzer ultimately shows have changed very little what is it that makes you move through life from opportunity to opportunity is it faith that inspires you to do things out of the ordinary or is it fear fear is a scary force indeed if you re standing on a railroad track with a speeding train closing in what is your reaction is it fear that you might die that forces you to move is it faith that the train is on a destructive path that causes you to move or is it just simple instinct born out of self preservation this is not a philosophical book and i do not want to waste time sorting out the differences the most important thing i have found in life is that faith makes me do things i thought i could never do and fear does likewise in this book we ll sort out many individuals in the old testament who were moved by both forces and yet were still called righteous they were all on an incredible journey but where were they going what were they really seeking living by faith is probably the scariest thing you could ever choose to do some would say it s the most foolish in his book by faith and fear elie takes you through conversations and questions of faith that are designed to challenge stretch and inspire focusing on contemporary issues and biblical characters elie explains what living a life of faith can cost but also how it can reap the biggest rewards by faith and fear is an excellent read one that will equip you for your personal faith journey rev liz linssen pastor of bethel community church port talbot uk and author of running with god christopher rory page two bodies two souls and an inspiring four way conversation between contrasting mortals as they journey through the african bush and discover the way from fear to faith the author awakens one morning riddled with fear from a deafening noise outside his bungalow window this is the beginning of an exploration into the self as he meets a primitive man who proves that there is more to someone than meets the eye a non verbal form of communication develops between as the two men dissect the concept of fear based on age old theories and beliefs the reader is introduced to the ukwesaba isitebhisa which translated from zulu means fear ladder this shows the progression of fear from the most superficial to the most concrete the common denominator to minimise the fear on all levels is to instil faith in various forms from fear to faith is an inspiring story and teaches as much as it entertains light hearted moments dispersed with simple truths make it must read for anyone who aims to minimise the fears in their lives which prevent them from being who they were born to be
