a theoretical and exegetical exploration of trauma in the hebrew bible david janzen discusses the concepts of history and trauma and contrasts the ways historians and trauma survivors grapple with traumatic events a contrast embodied in the very different ways the books of kings and lamentations react to the destruction of jerusalem janzen s study warns that explanations in histories will tend to silence the voices of trauma survivors and it challenges traditional approaches that sometimes portray the explanations of traumatic events in biblical literature as therapeutic for victims features exploration of history as a narrative explanation that creates a past readers can recognize to be true examination of how trauma results in a failure of victims to fully experience or remember traumatic events a case for why the past is a construction of cultures and historians
