ancient states and societies from across the ancient world ancient taxation is a collection of studies that explores the extractive systems of eleven ancient states and societies from across the ancient world ranging from bronze age china to anglo saxon britain the contributors discuss the inherent challenges of taxation in predominantly agro pastoral societies including basic tax strategy e g taxing goods vs labor in kind vs money taxes etc the mechanics of assessment and collection and the politics of negotiating the cooperation of social economic and political élites and other important social groups in assembling a broad range of studies this book sheds new light on the commonalities and differences between ancient taxation systems and so on the broader fiscal and institutional practices of antiquity it also provides new impetus for further comparative research into extractive practices across ancient societies and between antiquity and recent historical periods the book will be of interest to those studying ancient social and economic history the history of social organization and the history of ancient greece and rome egypt the ancient near east or ancient china in the late seventeenth and eighteenth centuries the woman writer emerged as a category of authorship in england publishing the woman writer in england 1670 1750 seeks to uncover how exactly this happened and the ways publishers tried to market a new kind of author to the public based on a survey of nearly seven hundred works with female authors from this period this book contends that authorship was constructed not always by the author for market appeal that biography often supported an authorial persona rooted in the genre of the work and that authorship was a role rather than an identity through an emphasis on paratexts including prefaces title pages portraits and biographical notes Leah Orr analyses the representation of women writers in this period of intense change to make two related arguments first women writers were represented in a variety of ways as publishers sought successful models for a new kind of writer in print second a new approach is needed for studying early women writers and others who occupy gaps in the historical record this book shows that a study of the material contexts of printed books is one way to work with the evidence that survives it therefore begins with a very familiar kind of author centric literary history and deconstructs it to conclude with a reception centered history that takes a more encompassing view of authorship in addition to analysis of many little known and anonymous authors case studies include Aphra Behn Catharine Trotter Cockburn Laetitia Pilkington Marie Catherine d'Aulnoy and Anne Dacier
