Abstract: the title of the book the house on mango street raises expectations and creates questions of its content and intent will it be the story of a family in the south where mangos grow will we meet different characters who inhabit the same house one after another or will the house be one of its kind on this special street in actuality sandra cisneros tells the story of a girl esperanza who lives in a house set on mango street in a fictional part of chicago the 44 vignettes have their roots in stories cisneros heard saw or experienced in real life the singular in the title should therefore be a plural because a great number of houses feature in the book esperanza visits family and friends while searching for her own future the house on mango street is a growing up story yet buildings do not grow into anything they are falling into disrepair more often than not so why does a house feature so prominently in the title of a book on growing up i will argue that the house in this book can be read as the female body in a patriarchal society its immobile state an accusation in the face of a need for change in 1984 sandra cisneros published the house on mango street and became one of the first widely read writers of the chicana movement a movement that filled the void left for women of mexican heritage by the u s feminist movement on the one hand and the chicano movement on the other hand white middle class women fought for political equality women's suffrage and reproduction rights latino males fought for equal opportunity with and recognition from the dominant white u s american culture the chicana had very little interest in political rights since she was usually concerned with questions of laundry and cooking she didn't want to fight for recognition from dominant culture because she was still dominated by males of her own culture while the chicana movement achieved recognition and won many battles since then the current climate in u s politics the fear of immigrants the disregard for women's rights to their bodies shows that there is much to be done the house on mango street remains a book of utmost consequence to feminism immigration and integration what sandra cisneros captured and i will try to show is how the way we think about women influences the way we act toward them and how the same thoughts act on our self perception a veces conmovedora a veces sorprendente y divertida la casa en mango street cuenta la historia de esperanza cordero una joven mexicoamericana que crece en el barrio hispano de chicago en un ambiente donde la tradición se mezcla con nuevos estilos de vida a sus catorce años tiene muy claro que no quiere pertenecer a un mundo desvencijado que se le queda pequeño celebrada desde su publicación inicial en 1984 como un clásico de la novela de aprendizaje esta historia descubre hasta qué punto nuestros miedos de seos y sueños son universales la identidad individual y la lealtad a la comunidad el desarraigo o el primer amor son algunos de los temas que sandra cisneros personaliza en esperanza inspirándose en las historias que le contaron sus alumnas la casa en mango street lleva vendidos dos millones de ejemplares en todo el mundo y sigue deslumbrando al público y a la crítica que consideran ya a sandra
