mapping tokyo in fiction and film explores ways that late 20th and early 21st century fiction and film from japan literally and figuratively map tokyo the four dozen novels stories and films discussed here describe define and reflect on tokyo urban space they are part of the flow of japanese language texts being translated or in the case of film subtitled into english circulation in professionally translated and subtitled english language versions helps ensure accessibility to the primarily anglophone readers of this study and helps validate inclusion in lists of world literature and film tokyo s well established culture of mapping signifies much more than a profound attachment to place or an affinity for maps as artifacts it is importantly a counter response to feelings of insecurity and disconnection insofar as the mapping process helps impart a sense of predictability stability and placeness in the real and imagined city
