the nature of the education programs provided for the masses believing existing theories of educational change are too limiting bacchus has blended detailed analysis of such important factors as the changing role of the state the conflicting educational objectives among the dominant groups and their differences with the missionary societies providing popular education to better understand how these changes came about he attributes greater importance to the role of the masses who increasingly asserted their views about the type of education they wanted for their children the book demonstrates how instructional programs developed in the west indies not as the result of a rational curriculum development process but rather through a series of compromises made to accommodate the
