Johnson's Life 1791 is a biography of Dr Samuel Johnson written by James Boswell. It is regarded as an important stage in the development of the modern genre of biography. Many have claimed it as the greatest biography written in English while Boswell's personal acquaintance with his subject only began in 1763 when Johnson was 54 years old. Boswell covered the entirety of Johnson's life by means of additional research. The biography takes many critical liberties with Johnson's life as Boswell makes various changes to Johnson's quotations and even censors many comments regardless of these actions. Modern biographers have found Boswell's biography as an important source of information. The work was popular among early audiences and with modern critics but some of the modern critics believe that the work cannot be considered a proper biography. James Boswell (1740-1795) was a lawyer, diarist, and author born in Edinburgh, Scotland. He is best known for the biography he wrote of one of his contemporaries, the English literary figure Samuel Johnson, which the modern Johnsonian critic Harold Bloom has claimed is the greatest biography written in the English language. This book commemorates the 25th anniversary of the International Izatt-Christensen Award in Macrocyclic and Supramolecular Chemistry, the award, one of the most prestigious of small awards in chemistry, recognizes excellence in the developing field of macrocyclic and supramolecular chemistry. Macrocyclic and Supramolecular Chemistry: How Izatt-Christensen Award Winners Shaped the Field features chapters written by the award recipients who provide unique perspectives on the spectacular growth in these expanding and vibrant fields of chemistry over the past half century and on the role of these awardees in shaping this growth. During this time, there has been an upsurge of interest in the design, synthesis, and characterization of increasingly more complex macrocyclic ligands and in the application of this knowledge to understanding molecular recognition processes in host-guest chemistry in ways that were scarcely envisioned decades earlier. In October 2016, Professor Jean-Pierre sauvage and sir j fraser stoddart author for chapter 22 contractile and extensile molecular systems towards molecular muscles by jean pierre sauvage vincent duplan and frédéric niess and 20 serendipity by paul r mcgonigal and j fraser stoddart respectively were awarded the nobel prize in chemistry alongside fellow wiley author bernard feringa for the design and synthesis of molecular machines this 26 volume set is a wide ranging time and subject spanning examination of the phenomenon of political protest what drives people to take to the streets and how do their governments respond these questions and many more are analysed in areas as varied as sixteenth century german peasant uprisings revolutionary russians at the paris commune women protesting nuclear weapons at greenham common and the role christianity played in protests across the ages an impressive reference resource this set also looks at the policing of protests and official responses to them over the course of the last 1400 years islam has grown from a small band of followers on the arabian peninsula into a global religion of over a billion believers how did this happen the usual answer is that islam spread by the sword believers waged jihad against rival tribes and kingdoms and forced them to convert lamin sanneh argues that this is far from the whole story beyond jihad examines the origin and evolution of the african pacifist tradition in islam beginning with an inquiry into the faith s origins and expansion in north africa and its transmission across trans saharan trade routes to west africa the book focuses on the ways in which without jihad the religion spread and took hold and what that tells us about the nature of religious and social change at the heart of this process were clerics who used religious and legal scholarship to promote islam once this clerical class emerged it offered continuity and stability in the midst of political changes and cultural shifts helping to inhibit the spread of radicalism and subduing the urge to wage jihad with its policy of religious and inter ethnic accommodation this pacifist tradition took islam beyond traditional trade routes and disaffected parties reveals how alienation from politics effected crucial changes to the shape and status of literary form recovering the earliest expressions of grumbling irritability and cynicism towards politics this study asks how unsettled partisan legacies converged with more recent discontents to forge a seminal period in the making of english literature and thereby poses wide ranging questions about the lines between politics and aesthetics reading works including laurence Sterne s tristram shandy james boswell s life of johnson the novels of maria edgeworth and jane austen and the satirical poetry of lord byron in tandem with print culture and partisan activity this book shows how these writings remained animated by disaffected impulses and recalcitrant energies at odds with available party positions and emerging governmental norms even as they sought to imagine perspectives that looked beyond the divided political world altogether no one can be more sick of or indifferent to politics than i am lord byron wrote in 1820 between the later eighteenth century and the romantic age disaffected political attitudes acquired increasingly familiar shapes yet this was also a period of ferment in which unrest associated with the global age of revolutions including a dynamic transatlantic opposition movement collided with often inchoate assemblages of parties and constituencies as writers adopted increasingly emphatic removes from the political arena and cultivated familiar stances of cynicism detachment and retreat their estrangement also promised to loop back into political engagement and to make their works parties all their own
