apocalypse and reform from late antiquity to the middle ages provides a range of perspectives on what reformist apocalypticism meant for the formation of medieval europe from the fall of rome to the twelfth century it explores and challenges accepted narratives about both the development of apocalyptic thought and the way it intersected with cultures of reform to influence major transformations in the medieval world bringing together a wealth of knowledge from academics in britain europe and the usa this book offers the latest scholarship in apocalypse studies it consolidates a paradigm shift away from seeing apocalypse as a radical force for a suppressed minority and towards a fuller understanding of apocalypse as a mainstream cultural force in history together the chapters and case studies capture and contextualise the variety of ideas present across europe in the middle ages and set out points for further comparative study of apocalypse across time and space offering new perspectives on what ideas of reform and apocalypse meant in medieval europe apocalypse and reform from late antiquity to the middle ages provides students with the ideal introduction to the study of apocalypse during this period

The baronetage of England. revised, corrected and continued by G.W. Collen 1840 this book examines the post 1990s african american novels namely the neo urban novel and develops a new urban discourse for the twenty first century on how the city as a social formation impacts black characters through everyday discursive practices of whiteness the critique of everyday life in a racial context is important in considering diverse forms of the lived reality of black everyday life in the novelistic representations of the white dominant urban order african american fictional representations of the city have political significance in that the neo urban novel explores the nature of the american society at large this book explores the need to understand how whiteness works what it forecloses and what it occasionally opens up in everyday life in american society

Early records of an old Glasgow family 1902

this study reconstructs the political origins of english women s poetry between the execution of charles i and the death of queen anne based on extensive archival research in england and the united states barash argues that ideas about women's voices and women's communities were crucial to the shaping of an English national literature after the civil wars. Women entered print culture as poets and as women by situating their writing in defence of embattled monarchy. In particular, Barash points to women poets' fascination with the figure of the female monarch, both real and mythic. Their sense of poetic legitimacy derives from the communities they generate around figures of female authority, particularly James II's second wife, Mary of Modena, and later Queen Anne. Writers discussed include Aphra Behn, Katherine Philips, Anne Killigrew, Jane Barker, and Anne Finch.
