in the beginning was the night all light shapes language and subjective consciousness as well as the world and art depicting them emerged from this formless chaos in fantasy we seek to return to this original darkness particularly in literature visual representations and film the night resiliently resurfaces from the margins of the knowable acting as a stage and state of mind in which exceptional perceptions discoveries and decisions play out elisabeth bronfen investigates the nocturnal spaces in which extraordinary events unfold and casts a critical eye into the darkness that enables the irrational exploration of desire transformation ecstasy transgression spiritual illumination and moral choice she begins with an analysis of classical myths depicting the creation of the world and then moves through night scenes in shakespeare and milton gothic novels and novellas hegel s romantic philosophy and freud s psychoanalysis bronfen also demonstrates how modern works of literature and film particularly film noir can convey that piece of night the modern subject carries within from mozart s queen of the night to virginia woolf s oscillation between day and night life and death and chaos and aesthetic form bronfen renders something visible conceivable and comprehensible from the dark realms of the unknown inhaltsangabe abstract at glasgow s university library i discovered a book about scotland on film scotch reels originally scotch reels is the title of a research carried out in 1982 about the depiction of scotland on screen it was revealed then that the predominant image of scotland was very much engaged with stereotypes defined as the heather and haggis image by one of the book s critics and had obviously nothing to do with the contemporary reality of scotland not surprisingly that radical view has found a lot of stern critics on superficial examination when i think of all the recent films set in scotland ranging from the historical epos braveheart to the contemporary fast paced drug story trainspotting to mention two of the more popular examples it seems to me that contemporary films set in scotland show a wider spectrum of scottish life than they apparently did before the 1980s when the stories were mostly with a few exceptions only set in the highlands or on an island in a community far away from contemporary modern and industrial life as a classic example of those films one can mention the musical brigadoon by vicente minnelli from the year 1954 however in my thesis i want to concentrate on films set in the city of glasgow since there would be far too much material concerned if i considered every single available recent film set in scotland i would like to find out whether the image of glasgow has improved or widened in its conception through the release of recent films compared to its depiction in older movies as i could not analyse all recent feature films set in glasgow in this context i decided to concentrate on a few examples by taking a closer look at these films i hope to be able to demonstrate how varied or one sided as will be determined the contemporary portrayal of the city is i do not want to omit mentioning my awareness of the fact that my selection is very subjective had i selected other movies the result would naturally have been a different one also i have not taken into account television films or series set in the glasgow area especially in recent years a whole range of series has been produced and broadcasted for instance the surreal hospital drama psychos starring douglas henshall the controversial tinsel town set in glasgow s lively clubbing scene or glasgow kiss which portrays the city as a modern airy place inhabited by sympathetic educated middle class people despite a shared history and many common present practices the relationship between theatre and film often remains uncertain does a close study of film enrich an understanding of drama on the stage what ongoing connections do theatre and film maintain and what elements do they borrow from each other does the relative popularity and accessibility of film lead to an increased scholarly defensiveness about qualities exclusive to theatrical performances do theatre and film demand two different kinds of attention from spectators or do audiences tend to experience both in the same ways the essays in theatre symposium volume 19 present this dynamic coexistence of theatre and film and examine the nature of their mutual influence on each other bruce mcconachie in his contribution to the collection theatre and film in evolutionary perspective argues that the cognitive functions used to interpret either media arise from the same evolutionary foundation and that therefore the viewing experiences of theatre and film are closely linked to each other in robert edmond jones theatre and motion pictures bridging reality and dreams anthony hostetter and elisabeth hostetter consider jones influential vision of a theater of the future in which traditional stage performances incorporate mediated video material into stage productions becky becker s nollywood film and home video of the death of nigerian theatre by focusing on the current conversation in nigeria discusses the anxiety generated by a film and video industry burgeoning into and displacing theatre culture these and the six other essays in theatre symposium volume acknowledged by many feminists as the single most important theoretical work of the twentieth century Simone de Beauvoir's The Second Sex 1949 nevertheless occupies an anomalous place in the feminist canon yet it has had an undeniable impact not only on the development of critiques of sexual politics but on twentieth century western thinking about the concept of woman in general this collection of six new essays by scholars from the disciplines of French English literature history cultural criticism feminist theory and philosophy makes a valuable contribution to the task of re-reading and reassessing this enormously influential text for a new generation of feminist readers and also for cultural theorists for whom the question of the feminine is at the centre of key debates in philosophy and postmodernity the contributors provide a significantly new rethinking of the place of the second sex in cultural history and of women and representation the role of fictions and the problem of ethical agency in the work of the leading intellectual woman of this age
