Redesigning Petroleum Taxation

2018-10-15

since its inception some 40 years ago petroleum specific taxation in the uk has been subject to numerous modifications often these modifications were brought into place not only to sufficiently incentivise the investors but also to capture a fair share for the government however it is evident from the frequency of changes that finding the right balance between these two aims is no easy matter such a balance and the consequent fiscal stability is necessary for the long term relationship between the parties to endure to their mutual benefit still it does not take much for one or other party to feel that they are out of balance as a consequence one party feels that the other party is taking an undue proportion of the value generated and that they are losing out yet achieving that balance and fiscal stability is possible to understand this possibility this book first clarifies what is meant by sufficient incentivisation and fair share before developing a new fiscal system that manages this balance and stability such clarification yields objective criteria against which to assess not only the existing regime but also the newly proposed regime this approach is further complemented by the critical analysis of the fiscal legislative framework and the evaluation of the legal positions of specific contractual elements and mechanisms found within that framework this latter analysis is important in order to reduce the legal uncertainty such elements may create which can otherwise lead to further reactive amendments and revisions to the fiscal regime in the future

1860 the u s government carried out a census of slave owners and their property transcribed by mr cox the 1850 u s slave census for georgia is important for two reasons first some of the slave owners appearing here do not appear in the 1850 u s census of population for georgia and are thus restored to the population of 1850 second and of considerable interest to historians the transcription shows that less than 10 percent of the georgia white population owned slaves in 1850 in fact by far the largest number of slave owners were concentrated in glynn county a coastal county known for its rice production the slave owners census is arranged in alphabetical order according to the surname of the slave owner and gives his her full name number of slaves owned and the county of residence it is one of the great disappointments of the ante bellum u s population census that the slaves themselves are not identified by name rather merely as property owned nevertheless now that mr cox has made the names of these georgia slave owners with their aggregations of slaves more widely available it may be just possible that more persons with slave ancestors will be able to trace them via other records property records for example pertaining to the 37 000 slave owners enumerated in this new volume
